HIGHWAY PARADE THIS EVENING

Gettysburg will have an Automobile Parade to Show its Interest in the Plan for a Coast to Coast Lincoln Highway.

Gettysburg will add its share to the country-wide demonstration for the Lincoln Highway this evening when a parade of automobiles will form on the Square and go over the principal streets in town. The event is scheduled for 6:30 so as not to conflict with the mums' parade which is announced for 7:15.

A meeting, looking to suitable recognition of the plans for a coast to coast highway through Gettysburg, was held on Thursday evening in the National Garage. Prof. Charles H. Huber was the chairman and the following committee was appointed to notify automobile owners of the arrangements for the demonstration, J. Edward McCammon, Charles S. Butt, Dr. E. H. Markley, Charles Kappes, John W. Brehm.

A hurried count showed that there are no less than 134 automobiles owned in Gettysburg and it is hoped that the majority of these will appear in line this evening. The parade will form in four sections, one on each of the streets leading from Centre Square. Owners are requested to take their cars to the nearest of these four streets not later than 6:15. On Baltimore, York and Carlisle streets the cars are to be placed facing the Square, on Chambersburg street they will face west. The parade will proceed out Chambersburg street, all falling in line at a given signal, and will then cover a route which will take in the principal parts of town.

Where convenient, owners are asked to decorate their cars and in any other way to add to the appearance of the parade.

JOHN KOCH DIED THURSDAY NIGHT

Resident of Gettysburg for Many Years, Native of Germany and Veteran of the Civil War, Died at his Home on Middle Street.

John Koch, a native of Germany and a veteran of the Civil War, died at 11:10 Thursday evening at his home on West Middle street aged 82 years, 6 months and 6 days.

Mr. Koch was born in Germany and came to this country shortly before the Civil War with number of others who settled in and near Gettysburg. In 1862 he enlisted in Company B, 138th Pennsylvania Volunteers, and served to the end of the war.

For a number of years he was a clerk in the Fahnstock Store and had a wide acquaintanceship throughout the county. Later he was engaged at the National Cemetery for ten years. For some time he had been living retired.

Mr. Koch was the last member of his family, none of the others having come to this country and his parents, brothers and sisters having died in Germany after he came to Gettysburg. He leaves his wife who with her mother came over in the same ship as Mr. Koch and married him some time after their arrival here. Eight children survive, Mrs. Lizzie L. Harner, Baltimore; Mrs. S. M. Eicholtz, Menallen township; Mrs. E. P. Warren, East Berlin; Mrs. Frank McCreaf, Harry E. Koch, Charles Koch, Gettysburg; John Koch, of Baltimore; and William Koch, serving in the United States Army in Alaska. He also leaves ten grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral at half past one o'clock Sunday afternoon from his late home. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery.

YORK SPRINGS

York Springs—Jerry Guise, of Huntington township, shot a hawk on Monday that measured 54 inches from tip to tip of wings.

Dr. George M. Dill, of Prescott, Wisconsin, spent Monday in his home town shaking hands with friends. Dr. Dill looks as if that bracing western country agreed with him. He was accompanied to York Springs by his brother, Dr. M. T. Dill, of Biglerville.

Miss Lizzie Day has returned home from a six weeks' visit to Philadelphia and Lancaster.

D. A. Gardner returned home from Withrow, Washington, on Friday evening. Mr. Gardner is an extensive wheat grower and spends about seven months of the year at his large wheat ranch near Withrow.

At a recent meeting of the survivors of the 138th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers held at Philadelphia, Henry J. Wortz was elected president of the organization. He is a brother of Mrs. G. W. Emmert, of York Springs, and was a member of Companies B and G, which were organized in Adams county.

One of the curiosities grown in Adams County this year was a sweet potato grown in the garden of Mrs. Harry Menges, of Bermudian. The tuber is almost an exact counterpart of an Indian runner duck and attracts much attention.

UNDER HORSES

Little Boy Goes Directly under Two Horses but Escapes Injury.

Kent, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sadier, of York Springs, had a remarkable escape from being killed one day recently. The lad was riding in his express wagon down the pavement in front of the residence of Mrs. Sarah Gardner and just at that moment Jacob Hoffman came driving out of an alley with a two horse team. The lad shot under the horses and the toy wagon struck the front wheel of the Hoffman wagon and was tossed aside out of the way. The little boy escaped without a scratch but Mr. Hoffman had a bad scare.

MANY HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Spoooky Time at Presbyterian Social Fancy Dress Ball at College. Patriotic Order Has Smoker. Other Events.

Gypsies and clowns, squaws and brigands, fairies and soldiers danced at the fancy dress party given on Thursday evening in Glatfelter Hall by the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Corn fodder placed about the sides of the room and huge shocks arranged on the floor gave the Halloween aspect to the party, while the light was furnished largely by pumpkin lanterns and a "moon". Cider and the other things that go to make up appropriate refreshments at this time of the year were provided and dancing was enjoyed for several hours, the music being furnished by Prof. Marion Sourbeer, of Harrisburg. The guests included Mrs. W. A. Granville, Miss Mabel Zullinger, of Mount Holly Springs; Miss Lillian Crawford, Miss Mary Slaybaugh, Miss Frances Sheely, Miss Marion Sheely, Miss Mary Kohler, Miss Reba Miller, Miss Elizabeth Van Cleve, Miss Rachel Granville, Miss Janet Robertson, Miss Katharine Duncan, Miss Bernadette Thomas, Miss Martha Neely, Miss Nellie Weaver, Miss Frances McClean, Miss Amy Swope.

A Ghostly Evening.

The Christian Endeavors of the Presbyterian Church celebrated Halloween in a successful social Thursday evening. The room was beautifully decorated with a wealth of autumn leaves, and flowers and lighted with candles.

A tall ghost stood at the door and silently pointed the guests to their dressing rooms. Cards bearing a figure on one side and a letter on the other were pinned on each person as he entered the social room. Soon a number of sheeted, peaked capped ghosts filed into the room and mutely gathered the people into classes. The ghost whose class totaled the largest sum on adding the numbers on their cards received as a prize a sepulchral rattle. Then the company mingled, turned their tags and were again singled into classes. To the ghost whose class tags spelled the most words a small griddle rattle of unearthly sound was presented.

The Misses Rowe played a duet and were heartily applauded.

The program closed with a continued ghost story. The company gathered in a circle, the lights were turned low, and all children who were afraid of ghosts were requested to go home before this feature began. The story was taken up in succession around the circle, the interest never flagged, as the hair bleaching, blood curdling narrative proceeded.

Delightful refreshments closed a very pleasant evening. The large committee in charge deserve high commendation for their efforts.

P. O. S. of A. Entertainments

The local camp of the P. O. S. of A. held a smoker in their lodge rooms on Thursday evening with a full turnout of members. Extemporaneous speeches were made by Prof. J. Louis Sowers, W. I. Oyler, Price Oyler, Samuel G. Spangler and James Smiley. A number of members from out of town camps were present for the evening. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. H. B. Bender entertained about fifty guests at an "at home" Thursday evening. The house was very prettily decorated with chrysanthemums, and things appropriate to the Halloween season.

CENTURY OLD SHOE

Ancient Piece of Footwear Found in Latimore Township Home.

In making some repairs to his house Howard Gardner, of Latimore township, found a child's shoe in a good state of preservation. The footwear was evidently over a century old for the house has been built for a much longer period. The little shoe was made in a brogan shape with pegged soles and heels.

YORK HOSPITAL IS UNDER FIRE

Institution at which Many Adams County Patients have Received Treatment Sees Strike of Fifteen Nurses. Stories Told.

The York Hospital, which has held many Adams County patients, is under fire. Fifteen nurses quit their jobs Thursday and a committee is making an investigation. Although receiving about $28,000 annually from the state, the York institution has been conducted, it is said, like a private hospital. There have been some charges made that certain physicians have been grafting.

The nurses who quit say they can no longer stand the treatment given them by the superintendent, Mrs. Mary A. Smith. The hospital is filled with patients and there remain only a few nurses to supply their wants. The trouble Thursday came as a climax to that which existed at the hospital for the last nine months.

It was only a few weeks ago that Eli Pitzer, of Littlestown, fell out of a hospital window and died shortly afterward. It is said that Pitzer's physician had demanded that a strict watch be kept on the patient.

Immediately after the walkout of the nurses the medical staff of the hospital held a stormy session. Resolutions were adopted expressing confidence in the superintendent and in the management of the hospital. Those who voted against the adoption of the resolution were Drs. Rea, Bennett and Meisenholder.

It is stated by Dr. Bennett, secretary of the board, that only one side of the trouble was investigated, the board relying upon the truth of the statements of the superintendent.

A case is now pending in the York County Court against a member of the hospital staff for negligence in permitting a rubber tube, about 18 inches long, to remain in the side of a patient after the patient had been discharged from the hospital as a well man. The tube was not discovered for some months afterward, during which time the victim, it is said, suffered agony.

CASHTOWN

Cashtown—As we have been having heavy rains the past several weeks the farmers and fruit growers have been delayed with their work and it will take several more weeks to get through. In the fruit section you will see some corn yet to cut and all to husk. The Sheely and Deardorff Brothers finished packing apples on Monday but will take some time to haul the drops and culls. The Shull crop is not all packed but they expect to finish next week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mickley, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Bucher, celebrated her 89th birthday on Sunday, Oct. 19th. There were four generations present. The house was decorated with chrysanthemums, Mrs. Mickley's birth flowers.

H. A. Bucher, after spending a week's vacation, has been called to Mont Alto to work as telegraph operator for the Southern Pipe Line Co.

Mrs. Sarah Lehman and daughter, Elsie, of Chambersburg, recently visited Mrs. Lehman's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Mickley.

Robert Shultz, who was employed in New York State and was sick with typhoid fever for some time, was able to return to his home in this place last week. He is getting along very nicely.

The ladies of our town who generally take an interest in growing chrysanthemums can give fine shows of the lovely flowers. It seems that these flowers are grown in other places as well as here but when they are ready for display you can find them about as fine in Cashtown as you get to see anywhere.

The Civic League was fortunate to be able to engage Mr. Humphrey Deibert. As a character impersonator, reader and lecturer he is fine. The audience on Wednesday night was small but appreciative. The League expects Miss Meddie Hamilton, field secretary of the Chautauqua Institute, Chautauqua, New York, to be here for the anniversary meeting, Nov. 22nd.

Quite a number of our hunters have been out and got the limit of squirrels several times. They seemed to be plentiful at first but there have been quite a lot killed already. On Saturday the little cotton-tails will have to suffer although the hunters will have to be careful where they go, as nearly every farmer has his name on the long list in The Times. If a thing is not worth asking for, it is not worth having, so it may be well to ask permission before going where you please.

MUST INTERVENE, SAYS DIPLOMATS

Corps in Mexico City See Drastic Action by U. S.

WILSON SEES A WAY OUT

President Does Not Believe Armed Action is Inevitable, But Huerta Must Go.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Confidence that Great Britain, France and Germany will accord cordial support to any policy President Wilson may adopt toward Mexico is felt in high administration circles.

The fact that these powers promptly acceded to the request of the department of state that they take no further action pending a clear definition of the American program is construed as friendly assurance of a willingness on their part to co-operate with the United States and support President Wilson in such action as he may deem best.

With this co-operation and support, President Wilson is firm in his belief that a solution of the Mexican problem will not be difficult to find.

The president is as firm as ever in his determination to find a peaceful solution. He does not subscribe himself to the belief so strongly held by many of those around him that armed intervention is inevitable. He does not think the time has come for this government to assume a "let 'em fight it out" attitude toward the factions at war.

While he admits that one of these two things may happen, he is determined to prevent either happening if it is humanly possible. But General Huerta must go. There has been and there will be no abandonment of this dictum.

That the next step in the Mexican policy of the administration has not been finally worked out and may not be announced for another week, was indicated at the White House.

The possibility that within the next few days a definite announcement will be made by the Huerta government of the result of the election last Sunday, is postponing action by the United States. The actual formalities of proclaiming the result may have some bearing on the situation, for while this government has already refused to countenance the result, foreign governments have not taken any position, and it is felt that the United States should await formal action by the authorities in Mexico City before putting on record its rejection.

Though this hopeful view is taken by the president and his immediate advisers, the administration has been informed that the diplomatic corps in Mexico City is unanimous in the opinion that only intervention by the United States can save Mexico, and that such drastic action is inevitable. Europeans express dissatisfaction with existing conditions in Mexico and the so-called "drifting" attitude of the United States.

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS

Extensive Military Activities Throughout the United States.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Extensive military movements are being made throughout the United States, the objective point apparently being Mexico. Regular troops are being sent to the border and National Guard organizations are being inspected and put in readiness for active service.

Perhaps the most significant move is ordered at Galveston. Colonel Frank West, in command of the cavalry at Fort Bliss, has been ordered to Galveston at once with his command to embark upon the United States transports now in the harbor. Colonel West will leave all horses behind. No information is obtainable as to the destination of the transports.

Several commissioned and non-commissioned officers, it developed, are on a tour of inspection of the Texas state militia, with a view to ascertaining if they are ready for service.

From Springfield, Ill., comes the information that Governor Danne has ordered the militia in readiness for marching orders. A call was issued for 1000 volunteers.

The government has contracted for the transportation of 6000 troops from California and has leased a site at Long Beach for camping purposes.

Activity in the New York state National Guard is also reported.

It was officially stated for the first time that a heavy movement of troops toward the border is now in progress. The troops being sent southward are all cavalry.

In the official announcement made by General Leonard Wood, chief of the United States army staff, it is stated that the troops sent to the border will "relieve" those now there.

CLEARED OF WHITE SLAVERY; CHEERED

Actor Was Accused of Luring Girl to Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 31.—Men and women engaged in a noisy demonstration of approval when a jury in the United States district court here returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Grover C. Rosenthal, an actor, of New York, charged with violation of the Mann white slave act. The jury deliberated only five minutes.

Judge John C. Rose, whose charge to the jury was regarded as broadening the scope of the Mann act, said if he had any idea the demonstration was premeditated he would send every one who participated in it into confinement.

"There was nothing in the actions of either of the parties connected with the case to deserve applause," said the judge.

Young Rosenthal, whose wife and children were in court when the verdict was returned, was charged with bringing Margaret Holbig from Philadelphia to Baltimore for immoral purposes. He said that he and the young woman were on the stage together and registered at boarding houses as husband and wife, but his attorney, in his argument, laid stress on the claim that there had been no attempt on the part of the accused to use the girl for commercial purposes.

In his charge to the jury Judge Rose held that the defendant had violated the Mann act, as he construed it, if the jury believed beyond a reasonable doubt "that one of the purposes he had in mind when he brought the girl into the state of Maryland was to continue relations that had existed between them while together elsewhere. The character of the girl nor her past life are not to be considered in determining this question of the case."

LEAPED IN SCALDING WATER

Two Diving Girls Badly Burned by Stage Hands' Blunder.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 31.—Two diving nymphs, exhibiting their charms and skill in a local theater, are encasing their bodies in hospital sheets instead of Annette Kellerman costumes, as a result of a stage hand's blunder.

When the cold wave hit Milwaukee the water was too cold for the girls, and they complained. The stage hands turned steam into the tank and forgot to turn it off after the performance. When the girls appeared for rehearsal no one noticed that the water was not as usual, and Edith Byington and Eva Luwin, on opposite sides of the tank, dived together.

Their screams prevented the other girls from leaping in also, and the two girls were badly scalded before they were able to get out of the boiling water. They are at the Emergency hospital.

ASKS U. S. COURT TO OUST GLYNN

Suit Brought to Test Sulzer Impeachment.

USURPATION IS CHARGED

Injunction Proceedings Designed to Get Case Before United States Supreme Court.

New York, Oct. 31.—The conviction of William Sulzer by the high court of impeachment and his removal from office as governor of New York was thrown into the federal courts for review by William H. Moore, a printer, of this city.

In a remarkable petition Moore alleges that the control of the government of the state of New York has passed from the people to a small group of citizens and that consequently New York is no longer enjoying a republican form of government as guaranteed by the federal constitution.

Moore seeks to have the court enjoin Martin H. Glynn from exercising any of the functions of governor, prays for the restoration of the office to Sulzer, attacks the assembly for arrogating to itself the power to convene in extraordinary session and pass articles of impeachment, and closes his petition with a prayer for an audit of all the state books.

Members of the court of impeachment, Governor Glynn, Attorney General Carmody, Secretary of State May and Sulzer himself are named as defendants. Why Sulzer was made a defendant is not clear. Sulzer, engaged in the height of a campaign for election to the assembly on the Progressive ticket, expressed surprise at the filing of the suit. When reporters told him that the action had been brought, he said: "That's the first I have heard of it."

Moore disclaimed any motive for the action other than that inspired by his duty as a citizen and a taxpayer.

Shorn of its verbiage, the petition charges a certain group of men, consisting partly of the defendants and partly of men unnamed, with having obtained control of the state, its many offices and vast funds, for their sole use and benefit.

No Precedents For Case.

Washington, Oct. 31.—There are no precedents for the supreme court reviewing impeachment proceedings as such. The proceedings filed in New York might come to the highest court for review on the contention that federal constitutional rights had been denied to Sulzer. For that much there is legal provision for a supreme court review. Should the case be forwarded by the lower court it undoubtedly would be expedited; otherwise a decision would not be reached in regular course much under three years.

PUT DYNAMITE PLOTS ON TWO

Attorneys Say Hocking and McNamara Are Only Ones Responsible.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Herbert S. Hocking was held to share with John J. McNamara the whole responsibility for the dynamite plots by attorneys who argued for the other convicted men before the United States circuit court of appeals.

Hocking, sentenced to six years' imprisonment at Leavenworth, is the only one of the thirteen men convicted last December who is serving out his term without appealing. During the trial he was accused of betraying his co-conspirators.

Chester H. Krum, counsel for Frank M. Ryan and twenty-nine other appellants, asserted that it was Hocking and McNamara alone within the ranks of the Iron Workers' union who undertook to dynamite the work of "open shop" contractors. Mr. Krum said Ryan and the others knew nothing of the dynamite plots carried on secretly by Hocking and McNamara, the secretary of the union.

TO PLACE DIAZ ON LINER

Will Be Put on Steamship After It Has Left Mexico.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Acting Secretary Roosevelt, of the navy, instructed Rear Admiral Fletcher to place General Felix Diaz, the Mexican refugee, and his party aboard a New York and Cuba mail steamship after the ship leaves the last Mexican port on her sailing. The ship has not been selected.

Under that plan Diaz and his party will be transferred from the battleship Louisiana to a New York and Cuba liner after the latter sails from Progresso at a date not yet determined. The transfer of the fugitives will be at sea, guarded against their arrest by the Huerta authorities.

SALARIES SCANT, VOTE MINISTERS

Reform Pastors of Potomac Synod Fix $800 Minimum.

Frederick, Md., Oct. 31.—Ministers and delegates to the Potomac Synod discussed the minimum salary that a minister of the Reformed churches should receive.

The resolution as originally presented provided for a minimum salary of $800, but an amendment advising a minimum salary of $1000 was introduced. This amendment was not passed and the synod fixed the minimum salary at $800.

When asked whether they received a sufficient salary for performing of efficient services, twenty-seven ministers answered "yes" and seventy-one "no." The total amount of money needed to meet the requirements of all the ministers not receiving an adequate salary is $23,215.

An invitation from Rev. J. Riley Bergey, of Trinity church, Altoona, Pa., inviting the synod to meet at his church next year, was read. The synod decided to withhold action on the matter until either more invitations were received or plans for next year's synod were considered.

Rev. Dr. William C. Schaeffer, of Lancaster, Pa., conducted "Home Mission" services in the Evangelical Reformed church, after which the synod was tendered a reception by the church.

DRAPERIES ON EVENING WRAPS PICTURESQUE AND VAGUE

Almost shapeless as are many of the afternoon and evening mantles their effect is extremely smart and becoming when worn by the woman who knows how to wear them. The most supple of the new fabrics are used for these wraps—duvetyns, velours de laine, satin brocades and lames being among the most effective. Trimmings are of stenciling, applique and fur. One of the most stunning effects is brought about by appliqueing a black or colored velvet figure to a plain satin or velour. When these designs—conventionalized fuchsias, roses, etc.—are applied on a fabric like camels' hair cloth, in one of the new reds or yellows, the effect is splendid. On smooth silks and satins they stand out bolder, but are quite as smart. Trimmings of this sort offer unlimited ways of displaying individuality.

Pur, of course, is perfectly suited to this style of garment, and furs this season are being dyed in every imaginable color. It is difficult to imagine an evening coat of the most delicate pink with a mole or squirrel skin color in the same soft shade, but similar effects will be seen on every side a little later.

1917 made up in duvetyne or matelasse in some favored shade, trimmed with moleskin, dyed or natural and finished with a quaint Oriental looking ornament of enamel or beads would make an attractive wrap for afternoon or evening. Three and one-half yards of 42 inch material is required to copy 1917 in size 36.

Broom holders for the kitchen family of brooms are steel springs heavily made, which fasten into the wall and open with a slight pressure to hold any handle, either large or small, which may be placed within them. While the proposition to put bananas on the dutiable list was seriously considered by those having the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill in charge as finally passed, this fruit, which is well styled the poor man's ration, was left on the free list, where it has been for years past.

MABEL'S CHITCHAT

Weed Out the Superfluous In Your Home and Be Comfortable.

CLUTTER GETS ON NERVES.

Can You Beat It?—Rainbow Faces to Match Milady's Moods the Latest Parisian Sensation—She Gilds Her Eyelashes Too—Stretching Parties.

Dear Elsa—It's awfully nice to be home again after the summer's good time in the country, but one's little apartment in town does look so cluttered up and stuffy when one has been retreating in the great outdoors. Dick says on shipboard the rule is to throw the unessential overboard, and that is exactly what I have been doing the last few days.

I have gone over every room in the apartment and demanded of each single thing its right to stay. If it proved its raison d'être it remained, but if it offered a single argument in the least feeble—out it went.

Homes get so quickly cluttered, and it's clutter that wears out the nerves more than anything else. The perfectly good dress that one knows one will never wear under any circumstances, the shoes that are just a little too worn to ever put on with proper self respect, the ornament that the room does not need to add to its beauty, but simply stays because it came, all these good things that hamper I have thrown away, and the joy thereof is manifold.

The best looking rooms one knows are those whose ornamentation is simple. A mantel filled with ornaments is an abomination of abominations. Besides, it's a care and not restful to the eye. I made a raid on my mantels, and nothing is left on the living room shelf but grandmother's brass candlesticks and my old French clock. Now I have an artistic effect and a mantel that is easy to dust. You know, dear, the Japanese, masters in the art of making a room beautiful, often elect to have one vase the sole bit of bric-a-brac.

I haven't a picture on my walls that is hung up merely because I happen to own it. I have, too, gone all over the bookcases culling out books Dick and myself do not wish to keep, and magazines and pamphlets have disappeared in the same way. Now, everything in the apartment is there because it represents a need or an artistic taste.

My motto from henceforth is going to be, "Better give a thing away and want it back than keep it and not want it."

Margaret D—dropped in on us the other day—you know she's just back from Paris—and amused us immensely with her very graphic accounts of the clothes hysteria going on in the City of Light. What would you say about Parisian faces and painted furs as a Parisian vagary? Well, the Parisienne whose object in life is to make the sensation on the boulevards is painting her face in various colors. This is done to express a mood, and the cubist craze doubtless is responsible for this hideous practice. There are days when milady's face takes on a peculiar shade of green, a green that verges on the purple under the eyes; and there are other days when she elects to walk abroad with her features done up in soulful purple, with lines under her eyes of a vivid pomegranate to tone in with her lips.

In tune with the rainbow face is the harmonizing wig, and the furs she wears with this makeup are either dyed or painted on suite. Not content with these lurid effects, she adds to the weird appearance gilded eyelashes that put Dame Nature hopelessly to shame.

Margaret says the effect is lovely, bewitching. Perish the thought! To arrive at this outrage to nature the tips of the eyelashes are heavily blackened; then the extreme tips are touched up with liquid gold. The chic Parisienne, too, adds a jeweled beauty spot and a landscape veil to confound all beholders. The landscape veil, I had better tell you, is a square of chiffon on which is painted a delightful bit of scenery, a sea picture or just a simple flower garden carried out in natural colors on a soft gray, black or green background.

Do you think you can stand one more beauty jolt? Here 'tis. Stretch scientifically and you'll grow tall—tall even as the divinely tall and beautifully less sisters of this winter of 1913. All the short faddish women are doing it. In fact, it's the latest in beauty culture. At first thought such a physical feat seems impossible to those who have reached years of permanent inches, to say nothing of discretion. But there are cheering reports from those who've tried patiently and determinedly to add the proverbial "cubit" to their stature.

Very likely stretching parties may rival in popularity this season after noon bridge, but don't hold responsible for this statement your sedate friend, MABEL.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARRROW, Chatham, N. Y., Editor of the New York State Grange Review

BAY STATE GRANGE

Plans For an Agricultural Exhibit at State Meeting.

Each Grange in the State That Can Comply With Conditions Will Exhibit a Single Farm or Garden Product, and That Will Be of the Best. Probably One Hundred and Fifty Granges Will Respond.

Plans for the agricultural exhibit which the Massachusetts state grange will hold in connection with its next annual meeting in Boston are well under way. The sessions of the grange will be held in Tremont temple, and the agricultural exhibit will be placed in Lorimer hall, which adjoins it. Each grange co-operating is to have assigned to it one of the agricultural products of the state, and that grange is to be responsible for a quality exhibit in that product. Nearly 150 different farm products have been assigned among the granges, which will give some idea of the magnitude of the undertaking. It goes without saying that this plan should bring out the very finest exhibit of farm produce ever shown in the state, as the granges are sure to emphasize quality in the products they display.

Furthermore, it is expressly stipulated that every product exhibited must be grown by a member of the grange. Apples will be a special feature, and every variety grown in the state will be shown. What is known as "Apple Valley," a section in the northwestern part of the state, will make a special exhibit.

There will be no premium awards of any sort, but there will be strong rivalry between granges to make the individual grange exhibits each the very best of its kind. After the granges have shown their efficiency in collecting and presenting this premier display of the products of Massachusetts old and orchards they do not propose to pack up their goods and ship them some again for their own uses, but all vegetables, fruits and such produce as can be made available by the various charitable institutions of Boston and vicinity will be given them, thus illustrating other grange characteristics—helpfulness and generosity. Because these articles are to be given for charitable purposes and not sold the railroad will ship the same in to Boston free.

The Massachusetts grange is to be congratulated on its purpose to thus emphasize agriculture and that the grange stands as the exponent of the most efficient methods in agriculture and horticulture.

Co-operation in Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania state grange organized a co-operative exchange about a year ago, and the manager, E. B. Dorsett, has furnished us with a statement of business transacted in something less than a year, as follows:

Grass seed $7,000
Twine 2,000
Feed and flour 3,000
Fertilizer 10,000
Machinery and implements 3,000
Lime 500

The total business above shown amounted to $31,500, but in addition to this they have sold many carloads of grain, hay, straw and potatoes, so that it is estimated that the total business will amount to nearly $100,000. It is predicted that another year, with the exchange doing business with double the number of granges at present (now only 300), the business will exceed $500,000. But the showing is a very good one for only a part of the first year of the exchange's existence. The secret of success with such co-operative enterprises is to be sure to have a good man at the head of affairs and then for the patrons of the exchange to trust him absolutely.

National Grange Meeting. Arrangements are nearing completion by the local committees of New Hampshire, and particularly of the city of Manchester, for the opening of the national grange meeting in November. The city is preparing to open its almost every door to the coming of the grange hosts. Deputy Harry Spaulding is busy booking delegates and visitors for rooms, and he has assistants in the nearby cities who will look after accommodations there when Manchester is full. Rooms in private homes will be reserved at $1 per day. Never before in its history was the national grange compelled to confer the high degree on four different occasions in order to accommodate all who want to take it. But that will be the case this year.

The county of Jefferson, in New York state, has about 7,500 grange members in thirty-four active granges. Of these sixteen own their own halls, which are valued at about $27,750. Others will erect halls this year. This county and Franklin carry grange fire insurance to the amount of $12,000,000.

THE BUCCANEERS

By F. A. MITCHEL

Some 200 years ago piracy was much in vogue on the ocean. The buccaneers of that day arose in this way: The English and the Spaniards were at war, and the English fitted out privateers to prey on the Spanish ships and possessions. When the war closed the privateers continued their depredations illegally under the flag of the skull and bones instead of the cross of St. George. After awhile the attention of the British navy was directed to eradicating them, but it proved a slow process and had not been entirely achieved at the beginning of the last century.

One afternoon the English merchant ship Petrel, Captain Stoughton, sailing down the east coast of Mexico, passed a corvet also bearing the British flag and was asked if she had seen anything of a low cut, rakish vessel. Captain Stoughton replied that he had not and passed on. An hour later, coming to the mouth of the Rio Grande river and the waters not being as well charted in those days as now, he concluded to run in a short distance and lay at anchor till morning.

Now, when the Petrel entered the river the low cut, rakish vessel mentioned was lying a trifle farther up stream. Captain Stoughton brought his glass to bear on her and didn't like her looks. But it was nearly dark when he discovered her, and he did not dare attempt to regain the ocean in the darkness.

Nevertheless as soon as the anchor had been dropped he called his first officer into his cabin, told him that he suspected the craft he had seen to be a pirate and directed him to take a boat and six men, go northward, find the corvet and report the vessel's presence in the mouth of the river.

Meanwhile the captain of the pirate lay low during the night, intending as soon as daybreak to make a prize of the Petrel, put the crew and every one else on board to the sword and loot her. Captain Stoughton, knowing that if the vessel near him was what he suspected this would be the result, awaited the dawn with great anxiety, hoping his messenger would bring the corvet.

But when light came a heavy fog came with it. This brought disappointment to the pirate captain, as well as to Stoughton, though the latter was not certain whether it would be a disadvantage or an advantage to him. It meant suspense. Before break of day he awoke all on board and, telling them of his suspicions, directed each and every one of them not to make the slightest noise, even to speak in whispers. There were women and children on board, and the dread was so great that the order was obeyed. The children were shut in the cabins, where they would not be heard.

Half an hour after daybreak the sound of oars was heard. They must be either from the pirate or the boat sent to the corvet. That they were from the pirate was soon evident from a volley of oaths spoken by the captain who was in command of the boat and in search of the Petrel. The women all went to the cabins to make sure that if a child made a sound it should be muffled, while the men stood in a group on deck armed with such weapons as the ship afforded, that they might sell their lives as dearly as possible.

The pirate commander had noted the direction of the Petrel and steered by compass. In his yawl were twenty men armed to the teeth. They passed the Petrel some 500 yards astern and, reaching the shore, turned and this time passed under her stern 100 feet away. Every man on the Petrel's deck stood mute, listening to the orders in the best, which they could hear as plainly as if spoken on the Petrel's deck. Every man thanked heaven for the density of the fog and prayed that it might not lighten. The women in the cabin heard almost as plainly as the men, and every child too young to understand the danger was covered with blankets.

The boat passed without detecting the ship, and it was fortunate that it missed by so narrow a margin, for when it turned again it went a hundred yards too far above. Captain Stoughton felt temporarily relieved, but every moment dreaded that the fog would lift and the ship's presence be detected. But as the sounds from the boat receded he felt that the evil was at least deferred.

When the fog passed it was blown out to sea, first exposing the pirate boat, next the Petrel. When the boat's crew saw the ship they gave a blood-curdling yell and pulled for her. But suddenly they ceased rowing. As the fog passed out it revealed the corvet nearer the Petrel than were the pirates.

That was the last of the latter. Being upstream, there was no escape from the man-of-war. Panic stricken, their captain was for a time unable to unite them in an effort to get away. Some insisted on pulling in one direction, some in another. The corvet quickly lowered three boats, each containing as many men as the pirate yawl. Before the pirate leader could get his men to obey him these boats were in the water and making for him. Then in his haste he ran aground. One of the corvet's boats made for the pirate ship, which was captured with all on board. They, with the boat's crew, were taken ashore and every man hanged.

Both mangels and beet make excellent substitutes for green food for the flock of hens during the winter months.

WHY THIS WASTE?

Why should the ground be left to nourish Rank weeds and poison
Where flowers might flourish
With loveliness and fragrance sweet
And hope and cheer for all they greet?
Yes, why not deck the wasted earth
With rose and lily and plants of worth?

Why should the ground be left to nourish Sharp thorns and briars
Where trees might flourish
With sweetest blossom and fruit of gold
Whose benefits are manifold?
Yes, why not have this wasted earth
Bear apple, peach and fruit of worth?

Then why should hearts be left to nourish Thorns and thistles
Where flowers might flourish
Where graces like lily and roses sweet
Make one for heaven and earth so meet?
My heart, my mind, may I till thee,
That thou mayest lovely and fruitful be.
C. M. BARNITZ.

THE POULTRY DOCTOR SAYS—

Epidemics of roup that occur in early winter are often started by late hatched stock that haven't time to grow strong to resist frost and cold. These pass the germs around the flock and often blast bright hopes for good winter profits.

Chills are not only nonpayers and fowls that have defects, but are generally weaklings whose tendency to diseases such as diphtheria, tubercle, and infectious enteritis makes them a menace to the flock.

The number of egg tonics is on the increase, but flocks of vigor and good ancestry need no stimulants, and weak flocks will not pay even under such a goad. Use of such force is evidence of poor stock, ignorance of right methods or greed.

Storing incubators and brooders without thorough cleaning and disinfection and beginning and continuing the new season with them in that condition is often the cause of bad hatches and weak chicks and heavy mortality for which the parent stock is often blamed.

Rats and mice in the poultry house not only carry away feed, but carry disease germs from place to place. Rats, especially in winter, wander from place to place for food, and this may bring roup germs from a bug-house coop to yours unless you have rat proof floors and are on the job with the shotgun.

Shows and fairs are a frequent cause of disease appearing in a healthy flock. Though judges may know the show points of a fowl, mighty few of them seem to know a poultry disease when they see it. Exhibitors should demand expert superintendents of exhibits and the immediate expulsion of fowls with disease that may be transmitted.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

While the old hen cannot tell you how much she appreciates your care and good feeding she will reciprocate by shelling out big, fresh, sweet eggs and such actions speak louder than words.

When shipping fowls to market do not send the hens and roosters in the same crate, as they are apt to be valued at the rooster rate. Remember also that turkey hens bring a higher price than gobblers, so be sure to ask for separate quotations or he will give you the lower gobbler rate for all.

The correct carriage for India Runner ducks is almost erect. When you meet so called India Runners with level carriage and coarse, round, short,umpy shape just decide right there that they are close relatives to common quacks.

The depulping mite is hard to kill about the best killer being strong tobacco water. But dipping fowls in any mixture must be done in a place where they will dry off quickly or colds and roup result.

After having vent gleet fowls are seldom of any use as breeders. It is a hideous disease, very contagious, difficult to cure, and it is really best to put the victim out of its misery.

Hens produce so many eggs during the heavy laying season that a large amount of time is necessary for eggshells. Nature furnishes some of this; but nature did not intend the hen to lay any more eggs than the pheasant, so those who have nature faked her into an egg machine should see that she has plenty of the article, which is best served in the form of cracked oyster shell.

During the coming great exposition in California we advise all tourists who are poultry pessimists to visit Petaluma, the poultry metropolis of the world, and all who are on the pull vive for a plan to establish a paying industry free from swindlers should take a look in on Petaluma also. In twelve months Petaluma has shipped to market $7,500,000 eggs and 300,000 chickens. Calculate the value of that enormous product by your home prices, and what an enormous income from chickens.

The Belgian doe averages about four titers or thirty-two young a year. Like the hen, this is another case of increased productivity accomplished by scientific breeding and the ingenuity of man. Oh, no, Barank isn't the only wizard, not by a long shot!

There is a prejudice against duck eggs handed down from the puddle duck period that does not apply to the product of the modern ducks in any way whatsoever. The up to date duck egg is excellent and not a bit like that of those ancient, tadpole, water skipper, fishy, mudhole quacks.

Placing chicks of different ages with a chick is risky. If the hen doesn't refuse to accommodate the newcomers, if her first chicks are older, she generally does not warm the new ones enough because the others are hardened, stay from under her more, so she treats them all alike, and the later chicks get chilled.

L. M. Barnitz.

The federal government will spend $11,000,000 in the next year and a half on reclamation work in Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon. This will consist of the building of dams and reservoirs and diverting streams from their present channels.

TOWN BUILDING TIPS.

A city building organization without an adequate membership is as useless as an automobile without an engine.
Help your neighbor when you can. A "To Let" sign next door is a bad advertisement for your business.
Opportunity is seldom grasped by the individual—man or city—without intelligence and vigor.
It is all right to suppress the smoke nuisance, but don't destroy the factory merely because its boiler room is at fault—Town Development.

WOMEN ON THE POLICE FORCE

They Fill a Long Want, Says Los Angeles "Lady Cop."

The arrival of the woman police officer is a striking commentary upon the changed conditions of our day, says Mrs. Alice S. Wells, a member of the Los Angeles police force.

One of the many which might be named two generally inclusive reasons for the woman police officer center our attention:

First—The police department is the great peace army. Its province is to keep the peace and to prevent crime through maintaining law and order.

During the last twenty-five years an active spirit of prevention has manifested itself in every line of human activity, a spirit based, no doubt, upon the deepest promptings—the quickening sense of brotherhood, of mutual responsibility, and the very self preservation of the race under our increasing

CHICAGO POLICEMAN IN UNIFORM. social complications. The woman officer is an emphasis upon the prevention spirit of police work.

Second—Today men, women and children face together industrial vicissitudes and socially commingling. Therefore it now requires the best that both men and women can give, in the police department as elsewhere, to adequately meet the needs and properly handle men, women and children. So, then, the woman's work concerns itself mostly with women and children.

Coming naturally under the domain of the woman officer are the places of amusement where the young gather—dance halls, skating rinks, picture shows, penny arcades, amusement parks, etc. Whenever it is necessary to make an arrest the woman officer can make it and carry the case through the court just as her brother officer would. The proprietors are property owners, have interests at stake, and there would be no gain by resisting or refusing to appear upon summons.

THE TRUE BOOSTER.

If you like the old town best
Tell 'em so.
If you'd have her land the rest
Help her grow.
When there's anything to do
Let the fellows count on you.
You'll feel badly when it's through
Don't you know.

If you want to make a hit
Get a name.
If the other fellow's it
Who's to blame?
Spend your money in the town
Where you pull the shovels down.
Give the mail concern a frown.
That's the game!

If you're used to giving knocks
Change your style.
Throw bouquets instead of rocks
For awhile.
Let the other fellow roast.
Shun him as you would a ghost.
Meet him hammer with a boast
And smile!

When a stranger comes from afar
Come along.
Tell him you and how you are.
Make it strong.
Needn't flatter; never bluff.
Tell the truth, for that's enough.
Join the boosters. They're the stuff.
We belong.

Rides Like Constant Coasting

Want a New Car if You Can Sell the Old One?

THIS is to the man who says "I will get a new car this year if I can trade in the one I now own at the right figure."

By "right figure" he means one that does not require too much cash in order to obtain a new car. Don't you know that cars are made to attract various classes of buyers? Some builders seek to attract buyers by giving extraordinary values and with low prices. Other makers give the same, or less value, but price their articles high in order that a margin of profit is left with which to take care of trades.

This is made possible by the fact that even the most experienced motorist often is not able to compare values. Qualities usually are determined by the prices that are asked. So the buyer is deceived. He takes a car priced at $3,000, thinking he is getting a $3,000 value, when, as a matter of fact, he may be getting only a $2,000 value and the $1,000 is added to the price to absorb the used cars.

Hudson Six 54 Values Are Real

THIS—"the handsomest car ever designed"—is not built for trading. It is priced low for cash buyers. It is the kind of value you get when you pay cash. In its purchase you are not paying the price to help absorb the used car of some other buyer.

If you drive a car, then drive this Six for a while. If you do not know anything about six-cylinder cars—then come find out.

The man who knows nothing of the electric light is satisfied with his kerosene lamp. To him it is the very best artificial light to be obtained. So it is with the man who knows only the four-cylinder car. He does not understand the pleasure and satisfaction to be obtained with a Six.

The Hudson Six 54 rides like constant coasting.

Up hill or down, over rough roads or smooth, at any speed, you ride with a comfort not obtainable in any four.

There is nothing lacking in this car to make it complete.

It has a true streamline body, left-hand drive, center control, entrance to driver's seat from either side, four-speed transmission and many other details—some exclusive, all advanced—are features you should see.

Would you let such value be compared with the fictitious price of a car made for trading?

WOMAN ACCUSES PASTOR

Actress Declares Minister Is Father of Her Fourteen-Year-Old Son.

Rutherford, N. J., Oct. 31.—Rev. Dr. Richard Earle Locke, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, may be forced to tell the governing body of the church his while life history and to prove himself innocent of the charge made against him by a woman whose story has thrown the town into a flurry.

All the members of the session, the governing body of the church, are not satisfied with the pastor's mere denial of the story which Mrs. Vashta Dalton, actress, writer and Klondike explorer, told during the past month that she has a son fourteen years old in Paris and that Dr. Locke is his father.

There are two factions in the church. One believes the pastor and the other doesn't. Dr. Locke denied Mrs. Dalton's story in vigorous language and regretted that she had so suddenly disappeared. He said that he had never had any intimate relations with Mrs. Dalton and that the church believed him and had dropped the matter.

WILSON WEDDING GIFT DENOUNCED

Congressman Scores "Familiarity" of Colleagues.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Representative Gray, of Indiana, created a sensation by denouncing his colleagues in the house for contributing $5 each to a fund, the purpose of which is to purchase a wedding present for Miss Jessie Wilson.

Congressman Gray declared that the members were getting "too familiar with the president's family," and suggested that the money be turned over to charity.

"I think this movement is in bad taste, indiscreet and an unwarranted assumption by members of this house," said Gray. "I do not think we should tender a trinket to her. Most of us are strangers to her, and it is bad form for us to intrude."

Gray suggested that the house might take official action in the matter by passing the following resolution:

"Whereas, the marriage of the president's daughter, Miss Jessie Wilson, in the People's Mansion, the White House, at an early date; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the house of representatives extend to Miss Wilson, on approaching the great step in life's highway, their heartiest congratulations and well wishes, as a symbol of the solicitude of this great nation for the happiness and welfare of all our people."

No action was taken on the resolution. While Gray was speaking, he waved a check for $5, which, he said, he would give to "some little poor child who, at Christmas time, peers through the windows of a toy shop."

Representative Pan, of North Carolina, objected to any consideration of Gray's resolution.

Gray is a Democrat. Mr. Mann, as Republican leader, ended the incident with a statement that it would be "hopeless to try to put into Mr. Gray's soul the expression which finds itself in the heart of every other member of the house."

WROTE LIFE STORY IN JAIL

"Stranger Than Any Novel of Fiction," Says Mrs. Eaton to Friend. Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 31.—"Not guilty" was the verdict returned by the jury in the case of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, at their home at Assinippi last March.

Mrs. Eaton has written a book while in jail. The accused woman, freed of the charge of murdering Admiral Eaton, confided her ambitions to a friend as she left for her home.

"Since I have been in the Plymouth jail I have written the story of my life," she said. "It is stranger than any novel or fiction."

Deputy's Slayer Convicted.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 31.—Guilty of murder in the first degree was the verdict rendered against William Diamond, colored, for killing Eli B. Stetser, a deputy keeper in the state prison. Diamond shot the keeper in a vain attempt to escape from the institution.

WATERLOGGED BY BONDS, SAYS HILL

Bankers Told They Must Get Back to Old Standards.

SUBSTANTIAL ASSETS NEEDED

Railroad Man Declares Confidence Cannot Be Restored Until Laws of Credit Have Been Respected.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—James J. Hill and Frank A. Vanderlip were speakers at the banquet that closed the convention of the investment Bankers' Association of America. Each sounded a note of warning to the business interests of the country.

Mr. Hill, whose subject was "Railroad Financing of the Future," said: "The country is waterlogged with bonds. Confidence cannot be restored until the name bond had won back something of its old standard."

Mr. Vanderlip said congress was in danger of saddling on the country a ruinous policy of flat money.

The senate, he said, was hesitating and fearful of doing anything against the wishes of the house.

Mr. Hill spoke as follows:

"If the true story of all municipal indebtedness, now concealed behind various temporary makeshifts, so as to maintain an obstacle credit and help push out the annual crop of new or refunding bonds, could be told, it would shock the country and give pause even to the advocates of unlimited expenditure for public purposes."

"The situation with regard to bonds generally spoken of as 'industrial' is worse. The field is so large and so adverse as to defy statistical tabulation. Hundreds of millions of bonds have been issued to promote consolidation, these securities being part of the purchase price of the smaller concerns to be united in one big corporation. Other hundreds of millions have been issued against property still to be developed, such as mines, timber lands, irrigated lands and even ordinary real estate, where many separate holdings are combined in the hands of an active selling or developing concern."

"Formerly and always in any properly financed undertaking, the limit of a bond issue is the total value of tangible property in possession; not its value for the uses to which it is being or is to be put, but its value as an asset for immediate conversion by a forced sale at any time into cash. Under this rule the investor might rest secure. The worst that could happen to him would be to have to take over this property in case of a receivership, wind up the business and get back his money. About all that he could lose would be the interest on his investment for the unrealized term of the life of his bond."

"The country is waterlogged with bonds. Confidence cannot be restored until the name 'bond' has won back something of its old standard. And that cannot happen until issues are limited by moderation, conformed to the value of the security and confined to the margin of safety and the form of credit for which the bond was originally designed."

"There would be little need for blue sky laws if all who engage in your business were bound by a code both moral and legal to stamp out not only the obviously wild-cat security, but every other that has a surplus of prospectus and a deficit of live assets behind it. The investment market cannot know a prosperous activity, except by feverish starts to be followed by still more pronounced reactions, until the immutable laws of credit have been generally recognized and respected."

In the course of his address Mr. Hill said, among other things: "Less than a year's subsistence stands between man and starvation. Six and a half bushels of wheat per capita is a low estimate for consumption and seed. The 97,000,000 people living, according to the census estimate, in the United States in 1913, would require 635,500,000 bushels to keep their stomachs and fields in condition for a year. That is a little less than the crop of 1911 and a little more than the crop of 1912. Subtract our total exports of domestic wheat and flour for the last three years from our total wheat production, and the average surplus retained for home consumption is less than 600,000,000 bushels per annum."

POSSUM FOR WILSON'S TABLE

Sent From South Carolina by an Antebellum Darkey.

Washington, Oct. 31.—President Wilson received an express package at the White House which pleased him.

It contained a fine fat possum, and it will be served tonight as the central figure of a White House dinner. It came from an antebellum negro, Joe Farrow, of McFarlan, S. C., and was accompanied by the following letter:

"Dear Mr. President—Please accept this possum, which I hope you will enjoy with the big sweet potatoes you received last week. This is from an old time darkey slave who is your friend."

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

MRS. W. W. LAKE

Tells Others How to Get Strong and Well.

Mrs. W. W. Lake of Aberdeen, Miss., says: "The gripe had left me in a weak, run-down condition from which I suffered for some time. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Mrs. Lake's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cods' livers—combined with the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol, and her cough disappeared as a natural result.

We guarantee that Vinol will do all we claim and will pay back your money if Vinol does not satisfy you. People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.
